[] All three participated in the briefing and the Preparedness staff members appeared well satisfied with the information provided.

11. [] Talked with Bill Jordan, in the office of Senator Richard B. Russell, again in an effort to arrange a meeting between the Director and Senator Russell, pointing out that the Director would be on the Hill early in the morning. While remaining pleasant, Jordan said Senator Russell was not coming in early and they were trying to discourage him from this in view of his recent illness and absence. Jordan said he would get in touch with us as soon as he could arrange something.

12. [] Talked with William Lowell, Senate Internal Security Subcommittee staff, about the alternative in having the testimony of Mr. Helms on Communist Forgeries reprinted.
